Qualifications/Experience - where have you worked or studied and how does that give you the qualifications and experience to write a paper your proposed subject (this could include a hobby like travel or photography that gives you some insight that others may not have)
Topic of research/ analysis/ paper – what will the written output describe? (Papers written from a campaigning perspective are not consistent with STSG goals to publish only evidence-based research. All outputs must document how the findings were reached)

How do you expect a paper on this topic will help to move forward the debate towards better Scottish transport delivery?
Why do you think enlightenment on this topic is a priority for Scotland's economy, society and environment?

Grants are paid on completion of a publishable paper consistent with the proposal above. To be fundable, your proposal above must be clear about what you plan to achieve and when you have achieved these goals you will be paid. Some people spend time on the analysis and publish the results in a very short paper of only a few pages. Others take time to write about a topic they know about from previous work to help disseminate the findings.

When you have completed a proposal send it to admin@stsg.org and if you have any questions please also contact us on this e-mail address.
